A NERVUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—“For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand, and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and now I am well and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter.”—Miss FLO KELLY 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

Art to Be Recovered.

One of the arts which must be repaired after the war is the art of conversation. A subcommittee in the ministry of reconstruction might look into it. It will be to small purpose that we have reclaimed thousands of acres, achieved the citizenship of women, improved the art of cooking and performed many other unexpected feats, if the genial reflection of all this, and indeed the very stimulus to action, is dried up or muddy. The link between cookery and conversation is a notorious and not a freakish one. It is the chef's aim to set us free for ideal pleasures. We must talk at meals, but we need not talk about our food. We have all been doing that too long. —London Times.

Furs From the Arctic.

Capt. Louis L. Lane, a veteran of the Arctic trader and miner, is on his way to northern Canada as an advance scout for a vast chain of fur supply stations to be operated by a Boston firm. More than $1,000,000 worth of choice furs annually will be shipped to Seattle, Wash., from the company's stations, and then distributed throughout the country.

“We have 28 fur stations along the Athabasca, Peace and Mackenzie rivers and expect to establish 25 more,” said Lane when he departed. “From the mouth of the Mackenzie the furs will be shipped around Point Barrow to Seattle, a distance of 3,500 miles.”

The Long Arm.

The war has furnished many strange coincidences. Here is another. A young officer came home on leave and brought his fiancée a piece of a shell fired by the Germans, but which had evidently been among ammunition captured from us. He thought it would interest her and he did, for she was able to identify it as having come from the ammunition works in which she worked. It interested her still more when she found her as a mark on it.

REDUCTION MOVEMENT

Columbia, March 15.—Complete returns received by the central committee of the South Carolina Cotton Association show that the reduction of fertilizer used through South Carolina and the other states will be truly startling. The amount of fertilizer purchased in South Carolina by farmers for use in planting cotton for the year 1919 will show a tremendous reduction as compared with the 10-year average. In fact, the figures turned in to the State Headquarters by confidential agents are so extremely small that they are being rechecked for the purpose of verification. One thing appears certain, however, and that is that commercial fertilizer for the use of cotton this year will only be a very small percentage of the ten-year average. The amount of commercial fertilizer sold for planting tobacco in Carolina, it turns out, caused an over-estimate as to the fertilizer sales for cotton.

A race is on in every county in South Carolina for the purpose of completing the pledge reduction reports, it was said at the headquarters of the central committee today. The committee has extended the time for the making of these reports until April. Every county in the state is now making a desperate effort to be the first county to forward to the central committee a complete report showing the number of acres planted in 1918, the number of acres planted in 1919, a list of the signatures of the farmers who refuse to reduce and of those who agree to reduce. It is absolutely necessary that the committee have this information before they can complete their report. It is also very important that this report be filed in ample time for the central committee to prepare their report for the mammoth public meeting which will be held in the State House April 3 at noon.

The meeting on April 3 promises to be one of the most largely attended and one of the most important and interesting meetings ever held in the state.

This Cultivator Makes Your Day's Work Easier

because it requires so little muscular exertion to guide the gangs. The pivot axle and lateral shifting arch act in unison so that a gentle push on the foot lever turns the wheels and shifts the arch and gangs in the same direction. The

has a frame so strong it will not sag no matter how heavy the operator.

Each gang lifts independently of the other and it is impossible for them to crowd together and cut out of the row, no matter how hard the ground is. Gangs can be reversed in a minute's time and given any desired angle to the bed.

This cultivator can be furnished with shovel gangs instead of discs and works equally well with either style equipment.

Velvet Bean Seed!

I have a few bushels of early ninety-day velvet bean seed which shows a germination of 90 per cent that can offer at $3.75 per bushel while supply lasts. Large numbers of beans of 1918 crop will not germinate 30 per cent due to heavy rains last year. This would be costly to farmers. One bushel of these good beans will go three times as far as others. All 1917 Alabama beans. Will have no more after present supply is exhausted so order at once. Shipment will be made at once. Check or money order must come with order. Buy only good germinating beans.
